What is HPV?

HPV is a virus.

There are lots of different types of viruses.

A virus can make you sick.

Some types change the cells in the cervix.

Some types change the cells on your skin.

This may show as a wart or lump on your skin.

Warts can grow

- in your mouth

- around your

- vulva
- penis
- anus

or

- at the top of your leg.

How can I get HPV?

Your mouth, private parts or skin needs to touch someone who has HPV.

It can be when you touch your mouth, private parts or skin on their

- mouth
- anus
- penis
- or
- vulva.

How can I tell if I have HPV?

It is hard to tell if you have it.

Most people do not feel sick.

Only some people get warts from HPV on their skin.

I think I have HPV. What do I do?

Talk to your doctor or nurse.

They may need to look at your

- mouth
- anus

- penis
- or
- vulva.

The doctor or nurse can give you medicine.
It can help get rid of the warts on your skin.

For people with a cervix

You may need to do a test called a cervical screen.

This used to be called a pap smear.

The doctor or nurse will do the screen.

Talk to your doctor or nurse about what they do.

How long will I have

HPV?

As long as it takes for your immune system to kill it.

Your immune system is the body's way of fighting off sickness.

Talk to your doctor or nurse.

How can I be safer from HPV?

Always use a

Use a condom when you put your penis in

- a mouth

- a vagina

- an anus.

Use a dental dam when there is a mouth on

- a vulva

or

- anus.

Condoms and dental dams do help

but not all the time.

All young people can have a needle.
It is to try to stop HPV.

Young people can have this needle. It is free

- when you turn 12 or 13 at school
- or
- from your doctor or nurse up to the age of 20.

Adults can also get the needle.

They may need to pay for the needle.

Want more information?

Ask your doctor or nurse.

Ask an adult you trust.
